River Valleys Continuum of Care: Ending Homelessness Together

River Valleys CoC is a coalition dedicated to preventing and ending homelessness in southern Minnesota by coordinating services and maximizing resources.

What is Continuum of Care?

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) allocates homeless assistance grants to organizations that participate in local homeless assistance program planning networks. Each of these networks is called a Continuum of Care (CoC).

The CoC process is a community-based approach that encourages the creation of collaborative, comprehensive systems to meet the diverse needs of local homeless populations.

River Valleys CoC covers 20 counties in southeast and south central Minnesota. It includes over 75 agencies across the region involved and committed to ending homelessness.

Why Does CoC Matter?

Over 400 people experience homelessness on any given night in southeast and south central Minnesota. Half of those people are children.

The CoC is a critical coordinating point for changing that reality and ending homelessness. It's also the access point for HUD homeless assistance grants in the CoC region.

In the CoC, people work together to improve programs, build partnerships, and increase targeted resources.

River Valleys CoC's overall goals are to:

- Prevent homelessness whenever possible, and
- Make episodes of homelessness rare, brief, and non-recurring.

Working toward those goals, the CoC now reports:

- 400 units of permanent supportive housing,
- 32 opportunities for rapid re-housing, &
- Improved referrals for high-need households through Coordinated Entry.

Homelessness in southern Minnesota

People who experience homelessness in Minnesota often stay temporarily with friends or family (double up) to avoid sleeping outside. People who are doubled up often don't think of themselves as homeless. They are also hard to locate and are NOT included in the 400 people counted above. However, people in these situations may qualify for assistance to prevent and end homelessness.
